

the bagpiper

NEWS

SPORTS

A&E

FORUM

FEATURES

Readers,

Thank you for reading this issue of the Bagpiper. In this issue, we discuss the football team's early success, the ongoing marching band season, gun violence, and many other timely topics in our school and society.

In this particular issue we focused on coach James Bragg's second year as football head coach. The Highlanders look to take advantage of Columbus East being out of sectionals this season. The team also looks to "Complete the Sweep" with a win tonight against Jeffersonville.

Be sure to follow our coverage on Instagram, Twitter, and the Bagpiper Wordpress for photos and other coverage of the game.

If you would like to see any other topics in the Bagpiper, please reach out to us at our email bagpiper.fchs@gmail.com or drop a letter off to B105/107.

Jadon Stoner, Assistant Sports Editor

Page 3	Extended Day: Students receive a chance to continue learning
Page 4&5	Abusive relationships: Toxic connections affect student behavior and interactions
Page 5	Cross Country: High school brings in middle school runners to summer camps to strengthen future team
Page 6&7	Football: James Bragg aims for sectional title as head coach for the second year
Page 14&15	Marching band: Check out how marching band students prepare for the upcoming performances of the season.
Page 12	Review: Quaint restaurant provides homemade taste for Kentuckiana locals.
Page 16	Editorial: The Bagpiper recognizes faculty members in helping students during troubled times
Page 19	Dress code policy: Columnist Annalise Bassett explains discrepancies in the dress code
Page 17	Gun violence in America: Columnist Christy Avery disputes the claim that mental illness is a main cause of mass violence
Page 8&9	Culbertson Mansion: Explore the Culbertson Mansion and the world of being a tour guide
Page 18	Student spotlight: Digital photography 1 students show off talents
Page 20	1 in 1800: Take a look inside the life of junior Preston Fonseca

Front cover:

JUNIOR ISAAC HATFIELD sprints out onto the field with his arms out wide, ready for the first official home game of the season against Vincennes Lincoln on Friday, Sept. 7. The Highlanders won the game 28-12. Photo by Brock Kennedy.

Table of contents:

2014 FC GRADUATE BRYCE ROMIG gives a tour of the Culbertson Mansion and discusses its history. Photo by Brock Kennedy.